

G2 - PSHR Engelsk- Local, no accommodation

The course is aimed at:
Shop stewards within the entire Private Service Hotel and Restaurant collective agreement areas.

Why this course?
The labour market is developing and changing rapidly. In order for you as a shop steward to be able to follow and influence the development and the challenges it brings, it is important to be well prepared so that the interests of the trade union movement are heard. We focus on the possibilities of the Danish agreement system based on your and your colleagues' daily lives. We investigate what it takes - to develop and lift the collaboration, and solve problems at the companies.

You will work with:
• Understanding and interpreting the content of the collective agreements, as well as the possibilities for optimal application of them.• Focus on the rights and obligations of union representatives.• What is 3F• Train negotiation• Train techniques for writing minutes and notes• Train speaking and meeting techniques.• The history of the trade union movement. The Danish Model

After the course, you will be better at:
Using your collective agreement to effectively improve pay and working conditions at your workplace, for the benefit of your colleagues. Involve your colleagues in the challenges and development of the workplace. Have insight into and understanding of relevant labour market legislation. Be well prepared for different meeting and negotiation situations. General competencies and impact.

Teaching method:

DATO

11.10.2027 08:00 - 15.10.2027 13:00
Uge 41

STED

3F København
Peter Ipsens Alle 25
2400 København NV

KOMMENDE FRIST

11.10.2027 08:00

KURSUSBEVIS

Nej

UNDERVISER

Elena Daniela Westerberg Ciobanu
elena.ciobanu@3f.dk

There will be written material, IT as a background to find more knowledge. The teaching will alternate between teacher presentations, discussions. There will be projects and tasks that are solved individually or in groups. Learning style material will be used.